A representative of the West Virginia Land Company informed us this morning that it was not expected that a single lot in the Oakhurst addition would be on the market after ten days. The way these lots have sold is a testimony of faith in Live Oak that to say the least, is remarkable. There are mighty few towns anywhere where there would have been such a demand for residence property. Think of it, one hundred and sixty-four lots sold at what might be termed fancy prices within less than two weeks.

THE EVERGLADE DRAINAGE

mine who are the legal owners of the land. During my career as a member of the Legislature I have never voted to donate an acre of the public lands to any railroad or other corporation, but why spend the people's good money on the drainage scheme until the question of ownership is fully settled? The people are supreme and can call the subject of drainage up at any subsequent time if, in their judgment, such necessity exists.

I do not believe that it would be right to require the taxpayers of Florida to canal, ditch or otherwise improve lands that may ultimately go to the railroads.

I believe that all officers who handle large sums of the people's money should be required to give good and sufficient bonds, but if you adopt the proposed amendment to Article 16, of the Constitution of the State of Florida, you create a Board of Drainage Commissioners consisting of five men, the Governor, the Comptroller, the State Treasurer, the Attorney-General and the Commissioner of Agriculture, who will not be required to give bond as such Drainage Commissioners, but will be charged with the responsibility of receiving and disbursing all drainage funds, which will, according to all estimates, reach well into the millions of dollars, whether the Everglades can be successfully drained or not.

I believe that the officers above referred to have enough daily work to do without adding an additional burden of such proportions on them.

The various tax collectors collecting drainage assessments will not, under the amendment, be permitted to pay the drainage money over to the State treasurer, who is under bond for the faithful performance of his duty, but will be required to make all payments direct to the new branch of the State government known as the Board of Drainage Commissioners, five bondless officers. Engraft this measure into the Constitution and it will take years to get rid of it. Adopt the amendment and you authorize and empower the Board of Drainage Commissioners to establish drainage districts and fix the boundaries thereof in the State of Florida.

The Drainage Commissioners will have further power of levying and collecting, in addition to the other taxes, an acreage tax not to exceed ten cents per acre from the lands owned in such drainage districts.

I am opposed to the amendment to the Constitution of the State, establishing a Board of Drainage Commissioners and drainage districts as proposed and shall vote against the proposition at the general election in November. W. R. DORMAN.

W. H. Jones, a successful orange grower of Lake County, is in the city the guest of his old friend, Dr. C. S. Brown. From the fact that he was seen wandering over Oakhurst by the light of early dawn this morning, it is presumed that he has a well developed attack of Oakhurst fever and will become interested in that handsome addition to the extent of several pretty lots.
